THE
Hongkong Telegraph.

HONGKONG, 10TH SEPTEMBER, 1881.

As we are on the brink of what may be termed a revolution in our system of locomotion, the public are fairly entitled to all the information which can be supplied on the subject of tramways, prior to their introduction into this colony. We have steadfastly and consistently opposed the Hongkong Tramway schemes, and shall continue to do so as long as opposition is likely to have any effect in the interests of the public; therefore in no spirit of captious opposition, but merely with a desire to give the professional classes interested in the proposed venture all the latest information on a subject with which they can hardly be expected to have much practical acquaintance, and to show the public generally that tramways are not exactly the paradise, the enthusiastic supporters of the project in this colony, and the colourless leaders of the local press would have us believe, we direct attention to a leader which under the heading "Murder by Steam," appeared in the Sydney Evening News of August 15th, and which we have great pleasure in reproducing. If it does no other good it may assist the directors of the Tramways Company in deciding upon a suitable motor for their proposed innovation.

At the present day there is scarcely a city or important town of note which has not accepted the tramway system for street traffic; without assuming the circumstance to be a fact, it might be said that Melbourne is the only large city in Christendom which has not yet laid down city railroads. And Melbourne is moving earnestly in favour of having them. If the system is adopted there, we can hope, with sincere earnestness, that the fatal blunder will be avoided which is converting the streets of Sydney into veritable shambles, reeking with human gore. Scarcely a day now passes, certainly not a week, without an "accident" of some sort. At first buses, cabs, and other vehicles were the victims of the various collisions with which we are becoming so terribly familiar; and the knowing ones smiled, and said it served them right, if they would get in the way of the motors. Unreasonable though the reasoning seemed that ordinary horse vehicles must make way for engines upon the streets, there would appear to be something in it, for accidents of that kind are not so common of late. Nor is it difficult to learn the reason why. Ask any driver, private or public, who uses the streets of Sydney, and the chances are that he would rather go round a mile than take the more direct route, if, the so-called tramway line has to be crossed in any way.

The fact is patent: The streets traversed by motors are shunned by other vehicles. And the operation is one which concerns not only the property owners or occupants of property in the streets taken possession of by Government in order to run engines and trains upon them, but every soul who has an interest in the welfare of this city. Is it a desirable state of things that obstacles of such a notoriously dangerous character should be allowed to interfere with the legitimate traffic? That there can be but one answer to such a proposition we feel confident—and that is in favour of a fair field and safe roadway being allowed to all legitimate vehicles. The propositions and the situation disclosed are so self-evident that it is not necessary to follow them further.

As stated frequently in our columns, in the suggestion made and warnings offered regarding the very serious dangers inflicted upon Sydney by forcing locomotive engines upon the streets, the proceedings have changed greatly for the worse. The smashing of vehicles has given place to the murder of human beings. And bad as "accidents" are which maim and kill men one at a time, it needs but an acquaintance with the technical nature of the machinery employed and the steepness of the streets upon which that machinery is running, to foresee an "accident" which will make the killing of persons signify seem but a grim pastime for the locomotives—the man-killing "trams" of Sydney. For those murders, those who will persist in the foolhardy course adopted are directly to blame. At present they have things their own way; and coroner's juries, as in the cases of slaughter which occurred this week, may formulate what are termed "open verdicts," in which no one is held responsible. That may answer for cases of single deaths by "collision with a tram;" but when one of those said motors with a train behind, loaded with some hundreds of human beings, goes on the run down some one of the recklessly steep inclines upon which the trains run, no coroner's jury or any other blinding process will clear those in blame from the fury of public horror raised against them.

It has been stated deliberately in our columns, and we reiterate the statement that the tram lines in Sydney are not safe for heavy engines and trains; that the grades or slopes are too steep for the class of vehicles put upon them; that it is nothing short of utter recklessness to carry such traffic as is carried on the trains; that skilled men will condemn the whole process because of the risk involved to passengers. And that, as we have before pointed out, should an "accident" occur to the brakes when going down one of those inclines with a heavy freight of human beings, nothing short of a miracle can save those in the train from being hurled into eternity. And miracles cannot be expected in the face of such foolhardy recklessness. It will then be murder by wholesale, and there will be such calls for those who through ignorance, pigheadedness, or conceit, will not take warning in time, as no coroner's jury can cover up. These are serious charges, and for the public good, we trust notice will be taken of them ere it be too late. Had notice been taken previously the Hon. George Oakes would be still alive, and the other case of slaughter of last week would not have occurred.

Returning to the first proposition

—the vast proportions to which the legitimate tramway system has grown in well governed communities. It has been shown that the city traffic of very nearly every city of importance in Europe and America is carried upon those lines—by horses. Yet were the whole of them examined, to an absolute certainty no such state of affairs as the coroner's inquiry in Sydney on Thursday last would be disclosed. Were not the circumstances so lamentable, it would be grotesque to hear the questions put to witnesses on that occasion regarding a necessity for sounding locomotive whistles (on crowded public streets!) and whether it was part of the duty of a fireman on a locomotive (travelling in a crowded public street!) to pull or shove people off the lines. The acme of absurdity was reached when the proposal was made gravely, to put cow-catchers on the engines. Surely some amongst the "officers of the department" present, ought to have explained that a cow-catcher kills what it strikes with as much certainty as the engine itself does. And, in Sydney, it is known now with absolute certainty that when an engine strikes it kills. The value of a cow-catcher is to kill and clear the carcass from the track, so that there may be no stoppage of the trains. Cattle are not taught lessons to keep out of the way, but are killed by the cow-catchers. And, in very seriousness, it would seem as though in the arrogance of the governing parties who do what they please with the streets of Sydney, men are looked upon as bullocks, who, when smashed, should be pushed out of the way by means of a cow-catcher to make way for the Government motors and trains; that there should be no stoppage to them even by dead men. Were it sought to make Sydney a place to be shunned or jeered at, no more effective course could be adopted than that of the proposal to mount cow-catchers upon the locomotives.

What a spectacle does the place present at this moment. Here, in order to carry out a crotchet of those who have the governing power, the experience of Europe and America, as well as what can be seen in Adelaide, is considered below official notice in Sydney. The light, effective, convenient, and safe genuine tramway system, with horses, is thrown overboard, and clumsy, dirty, expensive, and fatally dangerous railway engines and trains are forced upon the streets. For the safety of the citizens whose welfare they ought to study, it has become a duty which the corporation should not longer neglect—that is to see that a stop is put to further tinkering with engines, and that Sydney adopts the tramway system which has proven safe and convenient in other cities.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The Messageries Maritimes Co.'s steamship Peiho from Marseilles with the French mail, arrived this morning shortly before nine o'clock. The mails were ready for delivery at 10.25.

The meeting between the Emperor of Austria and the Emperor of Germany took place at Gastein, on the 4th August, and is reported to have been characterised by the utmost cordiality.

We observe from the London and China Express that the Rev. J. Lamont, formerly of Union Church, has resigned the pastorate of Trinity Presbyterian Church, Kentish Town, London.

As we are going to press we hear from what may be considered a reliable source that the Saigon Floating Dock has sunk. We presume, although details have not reached us, that a typhoon has visited the French colony.

The convention with the Boers has been signed. It guarantees to the Suzerain the right of passage of British troops through the Transvaal; the control of its foreign relations; the abolition of slavery; religious liberty; and the independence of the Swazis. The Government of the Transvaal was to be transferred to the Boers on the 8th Aug.

Notwithstanding the uncertainty of the weather, the Band of the Royal Inniskilling Fusiliers discoursed their excellent programme in the Public Gardens last night. The attendance was a very meagre one.

We regret to see by latest Australian papers that small-pox is still spreading in Sydney. The average number appears to have been about one case per day, although before the Bowen left this rate had been largely increased. As this is the first time the epidemic has appeared to any extent in Sydney, the alarm displayed by the whole community is not difficult to understand.

The British steamer Keelung, Captain Schultz, which arrived here this forenoon from Chinkiang, reports:—Left Chinkiang on the evening of the 3rd instant with light winds and fine weather until off Amoy, on the evening of the 6th when there was every appearance of a typhoon. Put in there and stopped until it was over on the morning of the 9th when continued our course with moderate S.E. winds and fine weather.

We would again direct the attention of the authorities to the jinricksha blockade opposite Fletcher's Buildings in Queen's Road East. With a line of, vehicles standing two deep at one side a single line on the other, and a few chairs thrown in promiscuously, driving round the sharp turn at the police station is a work of difficulty and danger. A serious accident will have to be recorded one of these days, if some improvement is not quickly effected.

In the House of Commons, Sir Charles Dilke has replied to a question by Sir E. Reed as to correspondence between Her Majesty's Government and the Government of Japan respecting the application of the laws of Japan to foreigners, the trade in opium, and the closing of the foreign post-offices. Reference has also been made in the House to the letter of H. E. Li Hung-chang on the subject of the opium trade. The Marquis Tseng has visited Newcastle, to attend the ceremony of commissioning the Chinese cruisers Yang-wai and Chao Yung, and is now on his way to St. Petersburg, for the purpose of ratifying the Russo-Chinese Treaty.—L. & O. Express.

The following description of the state of affairs in England is contained in a private letter from a gentleman in the old country to a friend in Sydney:—"Our country is passing through a crisis. Trade languishes. Agriculture decays. The time was when tenants besieged landlords, and without hesitancy bowed to their will, however imperious. Now, landlords are cap-in-hand to tenants. In Huntingdonshire rent of good land has fallen more than 50 per cent., while clay land can be had now at a reduction of 75 per cent. In North Wilts 100,000 acres on one estate are without a tenant. The fall of rent in Essex is 50 per cent., and even more. A farm which last Michaelmas was rented at £315, the owner is glad to secure from his tenant now at £100. Still worse in Bedfordshire, where a farm lot at 36s. an acre is now held rent free. In a Warwickshire parish of 300,000 acres, four-fifths of the land are unoccupied. In several parts of the country the land is said to be held by tenants on condition that it is kept from weeds. Gentlemen farmers will become much reduced in number. Carriage-keeping gentry are doing away with vehicles, and in other ways succumbing to the necessary results of extravagant rents. Legislation must interfere. Tenants right throughout the United Kingdom must be well defined and rigorously maintained. Game preserves must be utterly abolished. The political influence of holders of tens of thousands of acres must be content to have no other influence than what weight of character carries, and then perhaps our farmers will be able to compete with yours of Australia and those of America. I pity from my heart the members of our Cabinet. Liberal in their general policy, generous in their desire towards Ireland, they are compelled to resort to coercive measures, as though they wore Tories of deepest black. How they stand their present wear and tear I know not.

The Hawaiian ship Elvira Dorado, Captain Pimentel, arrived here last night from Callao, Peru. She was formerly a coolie ship called The America under the Peruvian flag. She reports fine weather and fair S.E. winds until she was 31 days out when she crossed the line in longitude 165 W., afterwards had light N.E. winds until passed the Marian Islands when she experienced a gale from the S.W. In latitude 18.10 N., longitude 131. E. experienced a heavy rotatory gale; while passing the Islands of Babuyan experienced a dry gale called Coyana which lasted for 15 hours during which she lost several sails, etc., and sprung a leak. On the 3rd of September again experienced a rotatory gale in which a few sails were lost and the ship labored heavily, and took in a large quantity of water through the leak; kept both pumps at work from thence to port. She has still some 3 to 4 feet of water in the hold and both pumps are still kept at work. Captain Pimentel desires us to correct the Steamship Bowen's report concerning her. Captain Pimentel informs us that the passengers desired to have the ship towed in, and amongst themselves they had made up a purse of about £100 towards the towage. When the Bowen was near enough a boat was lowered, the mate and two passengers went in it, and steered towards the steamer when the above proposals were made which the Captain refused on the ground that she was a mail boat and as both vessels were so very near the land. The Bowen thinking they were short of provisions offered his men a few bags of rice, which offer was politely declined as the Captain had more than sufficient provisions for himself and crew, and as regards the passengers they provided for themselves and had plenty on board the ship. From the passengers we learn that they were coolies, who some ten or fifteen years ago had emigrated to Peru, where they had made money, and some of them are married to Peruvian women; but owing to wars, massacres, murders, and other outrages, which are of every day occurrence they had chartered the ship to return to their country with their families.

The subjoined items are taken from the London and China Express:—

Advices by mail from Buenos Ayres report that the Doterel has been found to be broken in two. Only twelve whole bodies have been brought up from the wreck, two being those of officers and the remainder of sailors. They were all interred at Sandy Point. Six large guns, a mitrailleuse, and some ammunition have been recovered. It is considered certain that the disaster was not due to an explosion of the boilers, as the latter have been found intact, and it is thought that a torpedo must have exploded while being loaded, and set fire to the magazine. The court-martial on the survivors of the Doterel is to take place on board the Duke of Wellington, flagship, at Portsmouth, and will, it is thought, extend over several days. The authorities are now awaiting the arrival of the diver from the scene of the disaster. Vice-Admiral Hood, C.B., commanding the Channel Squadron, will be the President.

The Reserve Squadron, consisting of the Hercules 14, Captain A. F. Heneage bearing the flag of Admiral the Duke of Edinburgh; the Warrior, 32, Captain S. P. Townsend; the Hector, 18, Captain W. Carter; the Valiant, 18, Captain J. W. Poland; the Defence, 16, Captain A. T. Thrupp; and the Repulse, 12, Captain G. L. Sullivan; with the Lively, despatch-vessel, Lieut. C. Lesrange, arrived at Spithead on the 29th ult. from Leith. The squadron, headed by the Hercules, steamed through the roadstead and took up anchorage off Osborne, where the Duchess of Edinburgh and family are at present staying with the Queen.

The Gazette furnishes an unexampled instance of rapid promotion in the case of Major Aubrey Maude, of the Cameronians (Scotch Rifles). Major Maude, who has not completed nine years' service, is the field officer who has entered the army subsequent to the abolition of purchase in 1871. He obtained his first commission 1872, was gazetted to his captaincy 1878, and is now promoted major. Major Maude, who attained his twenty-ninth birthday on Aug. 1, is consequently the youngest field officer in Her Majesty's service. He is son of Colonel G. A. Maude, O.B., the well-known Crown Querry, and distinguished himself in the Zulu war as staff officer to Sir Evelyn Wood.

The appointment of surgeon to the new Governor of Madras will be filled by Surgeon-Major John Mackenzie, Army Medical Department. Dr. Mackenzie, who is decorated for service in the last China war, has been surgeon to the preceding Governors of the Madras Presidency.

The good service pension vacant by the retirement of Captain T. B. Sullivan, R.N., has been awarded to Captain Richard Wells, R.N. Captain Henry Bedford Wolcombe, R.N., has been awarded the good service pension vacant by the promotion of Captain J. Moreshy.

The post of Inspector of Submarine Defences at the War Office is about to become vacant; Colonel W. Crossman, of the Royal Engineers, having received orders to proceed to Hongkong for duty as commanding Royal Engineer.

His Majesty Kalakaua, King of the Sandwich Islands, with his suite, arrived at Berlin on 29th ultimo, and descended at the Hotel de Rome, at the door of which two sentinels had been placed in his honour. Since his arrival his Majesty has visited the various sights of the capital and presented himself to the Princes and Ministers who still remain there. The King has visited the works of Messrs. Krupp at Essen, and attended a review of the 2nd Dragoon Guards, accepting an invitation to luncheon from the officers of the Kaiser Franz Regiment. On leaving yesterday for Vienna he signified his extreme satisfaction with his stay at the German capital.

His Excellency the Marquis Tseng, Chinese Minister at the Court of St. James's, left London, accompanied by Dr. Macartney, C.M.G., on the 2nd inst., for Newcastle, to attend the ceremony of commissioning the two new Chinese cruisers Yang-wei and Chao Yang. His Excellency, accompanied by Dr. Macartney, leaves London this day for Paris, on his way to St. Petersburg, for the purpose of ratifying the Treaty concluded last spring between Russia and China.

We hear that it has been decided to construct four composite frigates at the Shanghai Arsenal. The gunboat to relieve the Philo, which is built of iron, and twin screw engines, will be shortly launched from the Arsenal, which is being largely extended by the construction of new work sheds, fitted with travelling cranes and all the appointments of a first-class shop. Guns of seven and nine-inch, shot, shell, and small arms are in constant work.

We understand that the negotiations between China and Japan in regard to the Loochoo question are not likely to be resumed for the present. The Consul-General of Japan, whose visit we lately noticed, was still in Formosa by the last mail's advice. Mr. Malsch, the engineer, was to pay another visit there to explore the petroleum wells.

Ireland to gave the Land Bill a fair trial.

London, 19th August.—Sir Charles Dilke, replying to a question in the House of Commons said that the French having declined to prolong the commercial treaty with England for three months, England had therefore declined the proposals of France for the resumption of negotiations. Paris, 21st August.—A French semi-official note has been published which states that the British proposals to prolong the treaty of commerce with France for three months is contrary to law, but France hopes to overcome the obstacles.

New York, 21st August.—The condition of General Garfield is less favorable: vomiting has recommenced, and feeding by the mouth has been suspended.

London, 22nd August.—The Times published a telegram from Natal stating that Sir Evelyn Wood with three British cavalry squadrons has gone to Zululand, where affairs are in a critical state.

Lord Hartington replying to a question in the House of Commons said that he was not aware that the Amir had asked the Indian Government for money and ammunition, and his lordship believed that non-intervention in the internal affairs of Afghanistan was intended.

One o'clock P.M.

The movement in favor of Sugars, referred to in our issue of yesterday, was continued throughout the whole of the afternoon, a very large business for cash, and the end of the month being done at $155 per share.
